  - PNB Statement of Commitment, Clinton Global Initiative, September 2010
    35
In September of 2010, Partners for a New Beginning (PNB) was formally launched at the Clinton Global Initiative (CGI) annual meeting in New York, NY. As we come together one year later, we would like to assess our progress as well as chart our course forward to ensure that we continue to deliver meaningful results on the ground.

In the year since our launch, Partners for a New Beginning has achieved impressive outcomes. Thanks to the leadership of our esteemed Steering Committee, our partnership with the U.S. Department of State, the tireless support of the PNB Secretariat, and most importantly, our partners abroad, PNB has formed local chapters in Algeria, Egypt, Indonesia, Morocco, Pakistan, the Palestinian Territories, Tunisia, and Turkey, and has firm plans to launch chapters in Jordan and Mauritania by the end of 2011.

During the past year, Partners for a New Beginning has supported over 70 projects. These collaborations are forging new partnerships, empowering local leaders to address key priorities, and connecting visionary individuals and corporations with local counterparts. All of these efforts support PNB’s mission to promote economic opportunity, education, exchange, and science and technology.

As we witness events in the Middle East and North Africa, there is a sense of urgency to our work and an increased focus on bringing together the public and private sectors to create impactful results on the ground. The events of the past year have presented a critical opportunity to transform our relationships abroad, based on mutual interest and shared respect. During the next 12 months, it is essential that we solidify these relationships, increase the impact of our partnerships and continue to support and empower our locally driven projects. Having sowed the seeds for successful partnerships, this alliance now has the opportunity to cultivate these relationships and effect truly long-term change. For PNB, 2011-2012 will be a time of consolidation and continued sustainable results.

PNB has emerged as a viable model for partnership and diplomacy. For many, including ourselves, the possibility of a New Beginning no longer seems out of reach. The golden triangle of civil society, government and the private sector has proven an effective model.

As we reflect on the past year and look to the year ahead, it is clear that there is much more to be done. Partners for a New Beginning is well-positioned to advance this work. We are incredibly proud to co-chair this initiative and confident that this Steering Committee will continue to drive a successful effort in the year to come.

Our sincere admiration,
INTRODUCTION TO PARTNERS FOR A NEW BEGINNING

Partners for a New Beginning (PNB) is an alliance to foster public-private partnerships aimed at broadening and deepening engagement between the United States and local communities abroad. In his 2009 address at Cairo University, President Obama called for “a new beginning” in engagement between the U.S. and the Muslim world. This call to action inspired a number of U.S. actors from the public, private and NGO sectors. An American Steering Committee comprised of private sector and civil society leaders, along with the State Department and PNB Local Chapters, are working together to facilitate partnerships between the U.S. and local communities, based on mutual interests and mutual respect.

PNB focuses on building partnerships in the areas of economic opportunity, science & technology, education and exchange. The success and sustainability of PNB depends on a model that is locally owned and locally driven. As such, PNB relies on local partners to determine the best potential partnerships and projects. Partnering with key stakeholders through our PNB local chapters is a vital component to our work and distinguishes PNB from previous initiatives.

BUILDING THE PNB INFRASTRUCTURE

PNB Steering Committee

PNB has established a 14-member steering committee, chaired by Former Secretary of State and Chair of the Albright Stonebridge Group, Madeleine K. Albright and co-chaired by Muhtar Kent, Chairman and CEO of The Coca-Cola Company, and Walter Isaacson, President and CEO of the Aspen Institute.

Members of the Committee include:

Members of the PNB Steering Committee have identified at least one Point of Contact (POC) responsible for communicating critical information to and from their Principals regarding PNB projects, priorities, events, and other developments within the partnership, who also serve as the primary liaison between the PNB Secretariat and their respective organization.

PNB Local Chapters (PLCs)

PNB has launched locally owned and locally driven PNB Chapters in eight countries, though originally having committed to five countries at the 1st Steering Committee meeting on September 22, 2010. PLCs are operational in Turkey, Palestinian Territories, Pakistan, Indonesia, Algeria, Morocco, Tunisia, and Egypt.

The establishment of PLCs in Jordan and Mauritania is underway; in Libya it is on hold.

Each PLC is comprised of 15-20 private sector and civil society leaders, including local representatives of multinational companies as well as representatives of local businesses and organizations.

The function of each PLC is to:

› Identify and prioritize the specific needs of their country in the context of PNB objectives.
› Identify priority projects, local partners and partnerships that advance PNB objectives in their country.
› Work to implement priority projects and identify partners along with the relevant Steering Committee members.
› Provide local leadership in support of PNB objectives.

PLC members are expected to:

› Commit to quarterly meetings that will set the overarching priorities, projects, goals, programs and a specific country plan.
› Convene by phone or in person with the PNB Secretariat and Steering Committee members to discuss progress of programs and identify partnerships, as needed.
› Mobilize individual and companies’ networks to implement priorities and projects identified by the group.
› Make a financial contribution or a contribution of their organization’s time, core competency and experience to administer the PLC priorities and programs.
› In some cases, act as local representatives for PNB initiatives at designated forums and meetings.

What is developing in the MENA now is driven by local leaders – many of them young – who know that the only way to advance freedom, dignity, and opportunity is to build something better, together.

Overview

"Nearly one year ago at Cairo University, President Obama called for a new beginning between the United States and Muslims around the world—a new beginning based on mutual respect and mutual understanding. And since then, we have worked to put that vision into practice through our policies and our partnerships—not only with governments, but with the private sector, civil society, and citizens worldwide."

Hillary Rodham Clinton, Secretary of State, Announcement of Partners for a New Beginning, Washington, DC, April 27, 2010

Partners for a New Beginning (PNB) is a collection of private-public partnerships committed to broadening and deepening engagement between the United States and local communities in support of President Obama’s June 2009 Cairo speech in which he called for a New Beginning based on mutual understanding and respect. PNB is chaired by Madeleine K. Albright, former Secretary of State, Muhtar Kent, Chairman and CEO of The Coca-Cola Company, and Walter Isaacson, President and CEO of the Aspen Institute, serve as Vice Chairs.

Local Chapters: The work of PNB is powered by local chapters. These chapters are comprised of notable individuals from the private sector and civil society, and they are tasked with identifying opportunities for partnership and collaboration. The Turkish local chapter launched on March 4th, 2011.

PNB Turkey – Local Chapter Focus Areas

Entrepreneurship: TEPAV is spearheading a Turkish public-private partnership on a “fund of funds” to invest in early stage tech companies in Turkey. Intel is promoting entrepreneurship among youth through training in collaboration with Youth for Habitat Association and business plan competitions to help drive innovation and accelerate economic growth. A delegation of Turkish business and university leaders to tour US business schools is currently under consideration. TOBB’s AllWorld Turkey project will identify high-growth entrepreneurs in Turkey and connect them with financing resources, customers, suppliers, and joint-venture opportunities.

Coca-Cola Turkey, The Istanbul Chamber of Commerce (ITO), and the TOBB Women’s Entrepreneurs Board have developed a program to support women entrepreneurs living in the peripheries of Istanbul. The program focuses on increasing the self-confidence and organizational capacity of women through personalized business development training, seed grants and mentorship.

Exchange: “Heritage as a Bridge” aims to partner Brown University with Koc University and other Turkish partners to facilitate connections between professionals working in the tourism/heritage sites industry.

Training and Education: Cisco’s “SPARK for Women” program will provide economic opportunity through IT education and training.

PNB-NAPEO Tunisia – Focus Areas:

Entrepreneurship: The Local Advisory Board plans to support the upcoming Maghreb Entrepreneurship Delegation led by the US Department of State in early November 2011. Board members will suggest Tunisia-based candidate companies for the delegation, which was based on a cross-region business plan competition. There will be accompanying mentoring sessions connecting Tunisian entrepreneurs with a US VC Delegation planned to visit the country later in the month.

The board has a project entitled “Invest in a New Democracy” that would promote Tunisia as a foreign direct investment destination and investment hub. The board will also be focused on a project entitled Private Equity/ Venture Capital Promotion that will aim at fostering this industry by providing capacity building and trainings to the major stakeholders in the Private Equity sector in Tunisia.

Another project “21stJs: Invention & Innovation for Jobs” was approved for its objectives of fostering creation of innovative start ups and generating high value new jobs. The project, which has a Maghreb perspective, seeks to leverage on the NAPEO initiative and the US – Tunisia Science & Technology Cooperation Agreement for better performances.

Education & Research: The Local Advisory Board and the Tunisian American Chamber of Commerce plans to support and provide assistance to Education For Employment’s new public-private partnerships in Tunisia including cross-border “Training of Trainers” (ToT) and Maghreb youth entrepreneurship programs. Among other things, the board will assist EFE by coordinating with other PNB-NAPEO projects in Tunisia, conducting press outreach, outreaching to corporate partners to secure jobs and will bring in additional partners on board as needed.

The board also plans to support the Maghreb FICRA (Fostering Initiative for Creating Entrepreneurship Activities) initiative. The initiative targets 1100 students in their final year of university education, to develop project and business plans that will improve graduates’ employability and enhance their entrepreneurship skills.

September 2011
PNB-NAPEO Overview:

“Under the auspices of Partners for a New Beginning, the U.S.-North Africa Partnership for Economic Opportunity is building a network of public and private partners and programs to deepen economic integration among the countries in North Africa. This past December in Algiers, the Partnership convened more than 400 young entrepreneurs, business leaders, venture capitalists, and Diaspora leaders from the United States and North Africa. These people-to-people contacts have already helped lay the groundwork for cross-border initiatives to create jobs, train youth, and support start-ups.”

- United States Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton, April 2011

The North Africa Partnership for Economic Opportunity is a regional manifestation of Partners for a New Beginning (PNB-NAPEO). PNB-NAPEO is a network of business leaders and entrepreneurs in the United States and in the Maghreb dedicated to fostering people-to-people and business-to-business partnerships between the U.S. and the Maghreb and intra-regionally.

Partners for a New Beginning (PNB) is an alliance of public-private partnerships committed to broadening and deepening engagement between the United States and local communities abroad. These initiatives were established in support of President Obama’s vision for a New Beginning based on mutual interest and respect through efforts to advance economic opportunity, science & technology, education, and exchange.

The network created by PNB-NAPEO will be the vehicle for communities in the United States and North Africa to identify, initiate and sustain projects at the Maghreb regional level to foster entrepreneurship and job creation, especially for youth.

Goals:

PNB-NAPEO will focus on the following:

- Promoting intra-regional cooperation among entrepreneurs in the Maghreb
- Developing stronger people-to-people and business-to-business relationships between the United States and the Maghreb

In this framework, the public and private sectors in the U.S. and the Maghreb will work in cooperation to identify and implement specific projects and programs in the following areas:

- Entrepreneurship
- Education & research
- Science & technology
- Exchange

PNB Membership

Beyond the PNB Steering Committee and the Local Chapters, PNB engages members-at-large who are committed, as part of PNB’s broader membership, to promote PNB’s objectives through their own work by broadening and deepening U.S. engagement with local communities abroad.

The following partners and their projects are included in PNB’s membership:

American Charities for Palestine

American Charities for Palestine (ACP) coordinated with Craig Newmark, founder of Craigslist and CraigConnects, as well as the Aspen Institute, by providing a vetted and accountable mechanism through which Mr. Newmark could make a $50,000 private donation to the MYTecC project, and its implementer Palestine Vision.

The Arab American Institute

Following up on the White House Arab-American Business Roundtable on May 4, 2011, the Arab American Institute will build relationships among the business leaders who were in attendance (including CEOs, presidents, and executive directors from major corporations and industries from across the country), PNB partners, and the U.S. Government to create business opportunities that foster greater economic opportunity in the Arab World.

Bamyan Media

Bamyan Media distributes and co-produces an original reality TV series that rewards the courage, initiative, and creativity of social entrepreneurs, while teaching the skills needed to start and manage a successful business. Launched in Afghanistan in 2008 with support from U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), Bamyan harnesses the power of mass media to inspire a new generation of youth leaders. Bamyan will co-develop a turnkey package for TV networks in North Africa and the Middle-East and freely license the series, leveraging grant funding from sponsors, foundations and aid agencies to accelerate distribution. In October, with the support of USAID, Bamyan is officially launching a program in Egypt, and intends to send a team to Tunisia and Lebanon in order to adapt and replicate its grass-roots approach. The organization looks forward to leveraging relationships through the United States Global Entrepreneurship Program in an effort the support the growth and success of the series throughout the MENA region.

Craig Newmark

PNB member Craig Newmark, founder of Craigslist and CraigConnects.org, has newly committed over $100,000.00 to provide internet connectivity for 17 vocational schools in the West Bank through a program spearheaded by Cisco, Inveneo, and USAID. Craig has also partnered with PNB member Tomorrow’s Youth Organization to fund the purchase of personal computers for children and schools across the West Bank. Additionally, Craig has partnered with MYTecC – the Mediterranean Youth Technology Club – by committing $50,000.00 toward their creation of a human network which will support and enhance dialogue and web2.0-based exchange among youth from Greece, Morocco, Yemen, Palestinian Territories, Israel, and Turkey. Finally, Craig has worked directly with the Aspen Institute PNB Secretariat to stand up a PNB Facebook page and further PNB’s social media presence.

IBM

In 2011 as part of PNB, IBM commits to extend their innovative Executive Service Corps to bring best practices to improve public service and drive local economic development in Jakarta, Istanbul and Cairo over the next 9 months. This investment of more than $1.2 million in business and IT consulting is in addition to ongoing Corporate Service Corps teams deployed across growth markets, including 7 Muslim Majority countries.

International Youth Foundation and The MasterCard Foundation

The International Youth Foundation (IYF) and The MasterCard Foundation have launched a new partnership to address the challenges faced by young people transitioning into the workforce. This project will directly assist 10,000 Egyptian youth by increasing their employability skills, while supporting 4,000 young people to obtain jobs or start new businesses. The MasterCard Foundation is providing $8 million towards the implementation of the partnership, while IYF provides overall management for the Egypt@Work program. The project will be locally implemented by an Egyptian youth-led NGO, Nahdet El Mahrousaa (NM).
ImagineNations

ImagineNations Group (www.imaginenations.org) is a partnership-based global network that provides entrepreneurs with access to financial capital, technologies, business/leadership coaching, as well as an online platform (www.imagine-network.org) of global and local portals in emerging and frontier markets that engages and connects entrepreneurs to each other, mentors, resources and markets.

The New York Academy of Sciences

Working with the New York Academy of Sciences, Malaysia’s Prime Minister Dato’ Sri Najib has committed to the development of public-private partnerships that can make the nation a leader in “smart” cities and villages; maximize the benefit of its palm oil industry through biofuels, biochemicals, and new formulations of the oil itself; and transform the education system to inspire and empower the nation’s youth to be leaders in science, engineering and innovation.

PeacePlayers International

PeacePlayers International commits to scaling up its efforts to use sport to promote youth civic engagement, leadership development and conflict transformation in the Middle East and North Africa. With projects currently underway in Morocco and the West Bank, and partners including USAID, MEPI, AMIDEAST, Adidas, and the Laureus Sport for Good Foundation, PPI is projected to launch a third program in Yemen in October 2011, and expects to double the scope of its work in the region by the end of 2012.

Sawari Ventures

Sawari’s vision is to drive growth of the entrepreneurial ecosystem in the Middle East by providing risk capital to high-impact SME’s in the ICT sector. Sawari Ventures I is an early/growth-stage venture capital fund investing in Cairo, Alexandria, Amman and other technology hubs across the MENA region. With a current portfolio of 7 companies, Sawari expects to make investments in 20-30 companies, over the next 3-4 years.

Soliya

Soliya recognizes that the connectivity enabled by new media makes it possible to extend opportunities for cross-cultural dialogue, education and exchange to millions of young people who would not otherwise be able to participate. Soliya has recently launched the Exchange 2.0 campaign, with partners iEARN and Global Nomads Group, with the goal of making it the norm for young adults to have profound, international cross-cultural experiences as part of their education. They are partnering with the United Nations Alliance of Civilizations, the United States Institute of Peace and the Obama Administration’s Partners for a New Beginning Initiative to achieve this vision.

Souktel

Souktel operates JobMatch services in West Bank/Gaza, Jordan, Morocco, Somalia and Kenya, with more than 22,000 job seekers and over 600 employers using its technology to find jobs/apprenticeships or qualified staff. In cooperation with PNB partners, Souktel will work with major corporations active in Egypt, Jordan, the West Bank, and Algeria to improve their national hiring processes through innovative mobile technology solutions, while collaborating with mobile operators on donations of SMS, voice, and connectivity services to match more jobseekers with jobs, career guidance, and workforce readiness training throughout the region.

Soliya

Soliya recognizes that the connectivity enabled by new media makes it possible to extend opportunities for cross-cultural dialogue, education and exchange to millions of young people who would not otherwise be able to participate. Soliya has recently launched the Exchange 2.0 campaign, with partners iEARN and Global Nomads Group, with the goal of making it the norm for young adults to have profound, international cross-cultural experiences as part of their education. They are partnering with the United Nations Alliance of Civilizations, the United States Institute of Peace and the Obama Administration’s Partners for a New Beginning Initiative to achieve this vision.

Strategic Regions Enterprise Network

The Strategic Regions Enterprise Network has committed to deliver business advisory services without charge to entrepreneurs and small/medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) located throughout the Muslim world. SREN has announced its first project, a medical lab to be built in Tikrit, Iraq, and has partnered with the Arab Institute of Business Leaders in an effort to develop a similar program in the region of Bou-Salem in western Tunisia. Two Georgetown graduates have been collecting data in the region and developing project plans for implementation.

Tanenbaum Center for Interreligious Understanding

The Tanenbaum Center for Interreligious Understanding has committed to creating and distributing materials that promote workplace inclusion and encourage respectful communication about anti-Muslim sentiment and 9/11. To prepare global companies to work with multi-faith staff and customers here and abroad, Tanenbaum will create facilitation guidelines and fact sheets that dispel anti-Muslim stereotypes and outline religious beliefs and practices relevant to the global workplace.
The Telos Group

Through their work in guiding PNB delegations to Israel and the West Bank, the Telos Group, an educational nonprofit focused on building American support for Israeli-Palestinian peace and a two-state solution, has developed a series of new relationships. Following their participation in a PNB delegation earlier this year, the Skoll Global Threats Fund has committed financial support for Telos’ educational efforts as well as their working building partnerships between Americans, Israelis and Palestinians.

University of the People

In collaboration with PNB, University of the People looks to democratize higher education within Muslim communities through tuition-free, collegiate-level programs. The non-profit organization has already accepted over 1,100 students from 115 countries, and looks to work with partners to accept another 100 students per year from two PNB countries. The initiative will be truly global in nature, equipping these students with communication to and support from peers worldwide to become productive individuals, active members of their communities and ultimately successful, global professionals.

Tomorrow’s Youth Organization

Tomorrow’s Youth Organization (TYO) is developing an SMS-based information service for underprivileged Palestinian women, delivering invaluable health, parenting and financial literacy information to a target of 1,000 women in 2011 and upwards of 50,000 when the project goes to scale in 2012. TYO’s on-ground presence and partnerships with SoukTel, PaTel and the Cherie Blair Foundation for Women, will ensure that the mobile program supplements face-to-face programs and services to exponentially increase its impact.

Tony Blair Faith Foundation

The Tony Blair Faith Foundation will be hosting consultations in partnership with Charles Haynes, director of the Religious Freedom Education Project at the Newseum and a senior scholar at the First Amendment Center, and the U.S. Department of State as the Tony Blair Faith Foundation fulfills their commitment to expand the reach of their “Face to Faith” global high school program to U.S. schools, impacting 40,000 people in two years. Already active in 17 countries around the world, including Pakistan, Palestinian Territories, Indonesia, Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon and the UAE, Face to Faith is a compelling school curriculum that engages students of different faiths and non-faith in meaningful inter and intra-faith dialogue. It encourages young people to recognize the similarities between faiths, and more importantly it encourages them to respect and deal with the differences between diverse and sometimes conflicting worldviews.

Turkish Philanthropy Funds

In partnership with Cagdas Yasami Destekleme Dernegi (CYDD) and Turkcell, the Turkish Philanthropy Funds (TPF) has announced that it will be working on a new mentorship platform, Yes She Can: Turkish Women and Turkish Girls, that connects Turkish girls between the ages 12-21 to professional women in the United States, engaging at least 100 girls in its first year, and increase that number by 10% in the each following year, eventually reducing the number of girls not attending primary school down to half million by 2020, and to 300,000 by 2025.

WillowTree Impact Investors

Through the WillowTree Fund, WillowTree Impact Investors commits to support sustainable, scalable and profitable businesses that have tangible positive impact on the communities and environments they serve by investing in such sectors as education, health, food and nutrition, community development, environment and poverty alleviation. As the first impact fund founded and based in the Middle East, by the end of 2011, WillowTree will begin investing between $1-10 Million in target companies throughout the Middle East and Africa, with a commitment to invest in and support the growth of 15-20 companies over the next 5 years.

World Cocoa Foundation

In Indonesia, the World Cocoa Foundation and two of their company members – Armajaro and Mars Inc. - have partnered with Swisscontact to implement Proyek untuk Peningkatan Ekonomi Kakao Aceh (PEKA), with funding from the World Bank-administered Multi-Donor Fund for Aceh and Nias. In 2011, PEKA will reach more than 12,500 farmers, as well as send two scientists from Acehnese universities to complete 2-4 month fellowships in the U.S., with the goal of increasing production by 50% by 2012, and to increase the percentage of cocoa beans harvested that meet the Indonesian national standard from 28% to 75%.

World Congress of Muslim Philanthropists

As the premier worldwide network of Muslim donors, the World Congress of Muslim Philanthropists is committed to advance strategic giving by leveraging the more effective use of knowledge, wealth, and influence among Muslim philanthropists. The World Congress of Muslim Philanthropists will work with PNB partners to support innovative programs to alleviate poverty and promote entrepreneurship and good governance. In the initial phase, the World Congress of Muslim Philanthropists, through its multi-donor giving circle “Hasanah Fund”, will raise $3 million for Pakistan over the next three years to assist smallholder farmers and landless laborers, mostly females, to achieve sustainable agriculture production.

PNB PROJECTS

Partners for a New Beginning relies on new and upscaled projects of its U.S. and local partners as a vehicle for delivering meaningful change within local communities and for deepening engagement through partnership.

Projects can originate any number of ways, including through the local chapters, through partnerships between PNB Steering Committee members and their affiliates, or through our broader membership-at-large.

› PNB Local Projects originate from the local, in-country chapters and their priority needs analysis.

› PNB Affiliate Projects are driven by members of the PNB Steering Committee, and in some cases, in partnership with affiliate organizations or the U.S. Department of State.

› PNB Member Projects are operationalized by non-Steering Committee members of PNB, who look to the PNB network for partnership and support when possible, and aim to further the initiative’s objective of broadened and deepened engagement.

PNB and its partners have launched, expanded or pledged support for more than 70 projects since the partnership’s initiation in September 2010.

PNB Local Projects

PNB has encouraged and supported the Local Chapter leadership in Algeria, Morocco, Tunisia, Pakistan, Turkey, Palestinian Territories, and Indonesia to design and operationalize locally owned and locally driven projects in each country and/or region.

ALGERIA

Algeria Start-Up Initiative: The Algeria Start-up Initiative is an in-country business competition that helps young Algerian entrepreneurs to receive training from Silicon Valley business leaders in putting together a business model and plan. These business plans are then evaluated by a team from Silicon Valley and the winners receive $15,000 in start-up funding for the company as well as office space. The Algeria Start-up Initiative would like to expand this model to the region to create the Maghreb Start-up Initiative, in cooperation with Education for Employment.

MOROCCO

U.S.-Maghreb Entrepreneurship Conference: The local Morocco advisory board is working in partnership with the General Confederation of Moroccan Corporations (CGEM) to sponsor of the 2nd Annual U.S.-Maghreb Entrepreneurship Conference 20-21 January 2012. The Local Board will handle all logistics, accommodations, transportation, etc. for the entire conference.

Moroccan-Algerian Business Partnerships: The local advisory board is looking to secure 3-4 MOU’s between small and medium businesses in Morocco and Algeria to be signed during the U.S.-Maghreb Conference.

PAKISTAN

Exchanges: The Pakistan PNB Leadership would like to pursue exchanges in the areas of science/technology, culture, education, media and business.

Health Projects: The Pakistan PNB Leadership is interested in focusing on healthcare through two priority projects that have been identified, including the Heartfile Health Financing platform and a joint U.S.-Pakistan telemedicine training initiative.

› Dr. Sania Nishtar, a member of the Pakistan PNB Chapter and leading health policy intellectual met with the PNB Secretariat to discuss the Heart Health File initiatives, and the Secretariat is researching various partners that might be suitable for these projects.
Dr. Faisal Sultan, a member of the Pakistan PNB Chapter and CEO of SKM Hospital in Lahore wants to pursue partnerships with U.S. hospitals that would involve joint-diagnostic programs and training seminars. We are in the process of researching potential partners in the U.S. who might be interested in teaming up with SKM.

School Construction in Flood-Affected Areas:
Coca-Cola is funding the construction of one school and its operating expenses for five years. The school, built in partnership with The Citizens Foundation, is under construction in Muzaffargarh. This region is one of the worst flood-affected districts in Pakistan, where more than 700,000 people have been displaced and hundreds of villages destroyed. The school is expected to enroll students in February 2012.

Rehabilitation of schools with CARE Foundation Pakistan: In a separate partnership with CARE Foundation Pakistan, Coca-Cola has rehabilitated and rebuilt five schools in flood hit areas of Punjab. This initiative launched in March 2011, and 1,000 students are currently studying in these facilities. These schools will address additional community needs, as well, providing space for evening economic empowerment workshops with local women and serving as basic health posts.

Small Farmers Early Recovery Project in Flood-Affected Punjab: Beginning in January 2011, Coca-Cola Pakistan partnered with International Relief & Development (IRD) to help the recovery of 500 of the most vulnerable small-holder households. The project rehabilitated farmers and distributed seed to restart sugarcane crop cultivation, while temporarily employing 3,500 farmers to repair watercourses and roads. This project has ensured a three-year cycle of sugarcane cultivation, giving families a chance for sustainable livelihoods and recovery from flood-induced losses.

Women’s Economic Empowerment Program:
Coca-Cola is partnering with Kashf Foundation to initiate an economic empowerment program for 365 women in Sindh and Punjab provinces. The project will provide small loans for start-up & existing businesses that are owned or operated by women. Additionally, the program provides training and mentoring to build business management skills. Following repayment, the initial loans will be redistributed to additional women.

Economic Empowerment through Honey Bee Farming: Launched in September 2011, Coca-Cola has developed a unique honey bee farming project in Swat, in partnership with Pakistan Red Crescent Society (PRCS). This project will empower more than 165 women (1,500 individuals in total) with the tools and techniques to farm honey bees, and it will also provide market linkages and training support to sell honey and additional bee by-products.

PALESTINIAN TERRITORIES

Celebration of Innovation Summit—October 5, 2011: The Coca-Cola system will provide financial and in-kind support to the local chapter’s Celebration of Innovation Summit. The Summit honors young entrepreneurs and fosters connections to mentors, finance and business training. The event will showcase ideas and inventions of 30 young Palestinians, chosen from more than 100 candidates. During the event, participants will present their projects, ideas and inventions in an informal and interactive setting. Five projects will be selected and provided with additional business development skills and financial support.

PNB-NAPEO has created a network of business and civil society leaders in North Africa and the United States that is invaluable to organizations operating in North Africa.

—Jasmine Nahhas di Florio, Vice President, Education for Employment
Youth will exchange ideas with business leaders and entrepreneurs from Palestine and its diaspora, as well as with the partners such as INJAZ Palestine.

Youth Volunteer Connection Program: The Palestine chapter, in partnership with Souktel, is working to create a website that connects youth with volunteer opportunities in the West Bank. Teams will be organized through the website to engage in community efforts.

Eco-Tourism: The Canaan Fair Trade Company plans to partner with local organizations to expand eco-tourism in Jenin.

Organic Farming Research and Education Center: The local chapter plans to work with the Palestinian Authority Ministry of Agriculture to establish an Organic Farming Research and Education Center in the West Bank.

TUNISIA

On the Road to the Arabia 500: The Maghreb Fast Growth 50 | 100 Initiative: The Local Advisory Board plans to move forward with the Maghreb Fast Growth 50 | 100 initiative. The annual program identifies and highlights fast growth entrepreneurs in North Africa. Organized by AllWorld, its goals are to drive new investments, raise the country’s innovative capacity and generate employment opportunities. The Maghreb 50 | 100 will establish a definitive record of the fastest growing, most dynamic entrepreneurs. This ranking facilitates access to capital, opens new markets for entrepreneurs, and points the way forward for countries to create growth strategies.

Education for Employment Regional Project: Objectives for the project include cross-border exchanges for youth, market relevant skills training, job matching & entrepreneurship linkages, entrepreneurship & leadership promotion among youth and support access for young women (with 50% participation target). An MOU is planned to be signed in September, and a partnership has formed between EFE and the Tunisian American Chamber of Commerce that will work to implement the project once it’s been launched.

Turkey

Fund of Funds: TEPAV is spearheading a Turkish public-private partnership on a “fund of funds” to invest in early stage tech companies in Turkey. This fund will look to find financing from both the public and private sectors.

SPARK for Women: Cisco’s “SPARK for Women” will empower women by providing economic opportunity through IT education and training in Turkey. An initial group of 120 women in six cities will become trainers in these fields, and they will each be responsible for training an additional 20 women, resulting in a community of roughly 2500 women in Turkey.

Promoting Youth Entrepreneurship: Through their program, Intel aims to build entrepreneurial capacity through education of high school and university students. 5,000 youngsters are planned to be reached by technology and entrepreneurship training programs at the end of 2012 in collaboration with Youth for Habitat Association also helping youngsters form a network of entrepreneurship clubs throughout Turkey. Plans are also made to help create connections between American and Turkish universities through these clubs. Intel organized a workshop titled “Innovate, Accelerate and Integrate Your Entrepreneurship Program” for university faculty and entrepreneurship program administrators to help accelerate entrepreneurship in their institutions.

Networking with VC and Angel Investors (Joint PLC Venture): This project will include identifying potential VC and Angel Investors in the U.S. and Turkey and facilitating exchanges and delegation trips.

The Women Entrepreneurs Training & Grants Program: Coca-Cola Turkey, the Istanbul Chamber of Commerce and TOBB’s Women’s Entrepreneurship Board will formally launch The Women Entrepreneurs Training and Grants Program in late 2011. During the program’s initial phase, it will give 60 women the chance to create new entrepreneurial opportunities and cultivate existing business ideas. Women will receive personalized business development training and coaching, and select participants will be awarded seed grants to support their own enterprise. Women executives from Coca-Cola Turkey will provide ongoing mentoring and technical assistance in areas such as marketing, project management, finance, and human resources.
PNB Affiliate Projects

PNB Steering Committee members and members-at-large are encouraged to incubate their own projects, often in partnership with other PNB members and local organizations, within PNB countries of operation.

Whereas PNB projects include those that are locally driven by the PNB Local Chapters, PNB Affiliate Projects include those projects that are led by PNB partners and their affiliates, while keeping in line with PNB’s objectives to promote economic opportunity, foster cooperation in science and technology, and scale-up and deepen education and cultural exchanges between the U.S. and local communities abroad.

EGYPT

Egypt Loan Guarantee Facility: Under the leadership of the Overseas Private Investment Corporation (OPIC), standing up a Loan Guarantee Fund (LGF) that will build off the successful model which was used in the West Bank/Gaza (MEII). This is a public-private mechanism that can expand lending to SMEs in Egypt by guaranteeing 70% of each approved loan to Egyptian businesses.

Tahrir Square Dialogues: The American University in Cairo has fashioned a proposal in which their institute would provide a safe place to gather, discuss new ideas and keep the reform agenda alive. These Tahrir Square dialogues will provide a space to convene and discuss important issues facing Egyptians as they grapple with the transition to democratic rule. Topics to be discussed in the dialogue series include “Managing the Transition”, “Restarting Competitive Politics” and “Constitution Reform”. We are working to find support for this project.

Infrastructure Investment in Egypt: Morgan Stanley is committed to continue working with Orascom, a local partner in Egypt, in an effort to invest client capital across the Middle East and North Africa. This partnership is looking to invest in long-term infrastructure projects that will build better roads, provide more access to water, improve communications networks and ultimately help the people of the region grow their businesses, create jobs and deepen connections with the global economy.

Supporting the Democratic Transition in Egypt: The Rockefeller Brothers Fund (RBF) looks to support the democratic transition through their Peacebuilding Program and an exploratory effort to support the forces for democracy and economic reform in Egypt. The Peacebuilding Program supports efforts to transform conflict and advance just and durable peace, with a budget of $2.8 million for 2011. In addition, the RBF is requesting board approval for a multi-year commitment to support Egyptian civil society organizations working to ensure a successful transition to democratic governance.

Science Scholarship: In celebration of the 2011 U.S.-Egypt Science Year, Coca-Cola Egypt has joined the U.S. Embassy in supporting scholarships for 10 Egyptians to participate in a month-long science camp at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland.

Egypt Livelihood Program: Building on the Coca-Cola system’s existing community program in Egypt – the Egypt Livelihood Program – the company has committed to work in partnership with the Egypt Food Bank to develop 100 villages by 2020 with an average annual investment from the system of $400,000. In addition to the infrastructure investments already being made in these villages, the Coca-Cola system will partner with the Al Tadamun foundation and the nongovernmental organization Sonna al Hayah to offer micro-loans to women in the villages where Coca-Cola and the Food Bank currently operate. This project may expand through PNB when the local chapter is officially formed.
INDONESIA

Access to Education: ExxonMobil has committed to expand access to education and leadership opportunities in Indonesia, with a focus on the country’s youth. In partnership with the Sampoerna Foundation, ExxonMobil has committed $3 million over the next 3 years to support long-term, high-impact programs to reach young people who need it most. The programs are designed to educate future leaders and position them to make a positive impact on the future of Indonesia

Vocational Training Scholarship Program: Coca-Cola’s scholarship program, (funded through The Coca-Cola Indonesia Foundation) provides financial assistance and life skills training for undergraduate students. More than 80 students have received scholarships since 2007, and the program will expand through PNB to include vocational training for 25 additional students in 2011.

MOROCCO

Education for Employment–Intel MOU: Education for Employment and Intel are partnering to dramatically expand EFE’s precedence in the Maghreb with added focus to the youth employment in the Moroccan IT sector.

Date Tree Planting and Economic Empowerment Initiative: Together with the NGO ALCESDAM (Association de Lutte Contre la Desertification au Maroc/The Association for the Fight Against Desertification in Morocco) The Coca-Cola Africa Foundation and three Coca-Cola bottling partners, Coca-Cola Morocco is planting tens of thousands of date palms trees which will cover more than 150 acres in Touzouline, Morocco. This project highlights the link between creating economic opportunity and preserving the environment. Each date palm will provide more than 110 pounds of dates that will be sold in village cooperatives. After five years, additional fruit and animal feed crops will be planted in the palms’ shade, providing further income to local communities. This project began in January 2011 and is expected to impact more than 10,000 people.

PALESTINIAN TERRITORIES

Sadara Ventures: PNB Steering Committee Member Jean Case, CEO of the Case Foundation, has committed to advancing the technology sector in the Palestinian Territories, including making a significant personal investment, with her husband Steve Case, in Sadara Ventures, which launched in March with $28.7M from leading international companies including Cisco, Google, The Soros Economic Development Fund, Skoll Foundation, and the European Investment Bank, among others. Sadara will invest in 12 startup companies in the Internet, mobile and software sectors created by ICT entrepreneurs in the West Bank, creating direct and indirect jobs.
University Partnerships Initiative: In partnership with the Telos group, the Aspen Institute’s U.S. Palestinian Partnership and PNB Steering Committee Member, the Case Foundation, lead a delegation to the West Bank focused on University Partnerships, Technology and Entrepreneurship. The model will be used in future delegations to key Maghreb countries via PNB-NAPEO.

Bidaya: An Intensive Incubation Program to be operated by the Palestine ICT Incubator (PICT) for selected entrepreneurs, the Bidaya Program will focus on local Palestinian professionals that would like to start their high-growth entrepreneurial ventures in Palestine. Through the program, selected teams receive mentorship, capital funding, infrastructure, and the knowledge required to build and operate their own start-ups. Upon completion of the program, teams will have the opportunity to meet with early stage “angel” and venture capital investors to present their ideas and demonstrate their products. This program has been supported by Cisco, in partnership with USAID.
Bethlehem University–University of Houston Partnership:
A University Partnership has been facilitated between the Conrad Hilton College at the University of Houston and the Bethlehem University School of Hospitality. It includes virtual student exchange, assistance in curriculum, job placement and online training. After participation in the March 2011 University Partnerships Delegation to the West Bank, the two parties are seeking to expand the partnership further.

Face to Faith: In June 2011 the Tony Blair Faith Foundation (TBFF) signed an MOU with the Palestinian Ministry of Education to train 200 Palestinian teachers over the next two years as part of the foundation’s global education program, Face to Faith. The agreement between the Ministry and TBFF brings the total number of Palestinian schools implementing the program to over 100. Through their involvement in Face to Faith, young Palestinian students are now able to link up directly with peers in 16 other countries around the world, exploring different perspectives and beliefs and celebrating the commonalities of human experience.

“From the Prime Minister of Palestine, to the elders of a refugee camp, to young Palestinian entrepreneurs, our delegation met a wide variety of people shaping Palestine today.”

—Lydia Westbrook, Director of International External Programs, Conrad N. Hilton College, University of Houston
tankeem.net: Focused on capacity building of Palestinian Information and Communication Technologies (ICT) companies in the software development field. The program will run 6 to 12 months and will focus on preparing software companies to compete in the global economy. A holistic approach building companies capacity from CEO to team leads and project managers. Program includes business, marketing, HR, and leadership workshops and training as well as meetings with business leaders, and VCs presenting today’s trends and topics. The participants will bring real-world issues for discussion and receive an individual and group coaching throughout the program duration. The program will build upon the outsourcing partnerships and processes that Cisco has already implemented in the Palestinian Territories.

Connecting Youth Development Resource Centers: In partnership with USAID, Craig Newmark, and Inveneo, Cisco is supporting a program designed to connect Youth Development Resource Centers, youth clubs, and schools to the Internet. Including providing Wi-Fi connectivity to campuses, while building capacity of local companies. Cisco brings expertise and Inveneo brings know how in designing and implementing low cost and low power Wi-Fi connectivity in urban and rural areas. Inveneo will work with selected local companies to build their capacity through the implementation.

Capacity Building for Palestinian ICT Companies: Capacity building of Palestinian Information and Communication Technologies (ICT) companies in the software industry. Companies will participate in business and leadership workshops with business leaders and VCs for individual and group coaching. This program builds upon the Outsourcing partnerships and processes already implemented by Cisco.

TUNISIA

Loan Guarantee Fund: Under the leadership of OPIC, the local advisory board and PNB-NAPEO are working to stand up a Loan Guarantee Fund (LGF) that will build off the successful model which was used in the West Bank/Gaza (MEII). This is a public-private mechanism that can expand lending to SMEs in Tunisia by guaranteeing 70% of each approved loan to Tunisian businesses. (To prevent moral hazard, this is done blindly and the recipient does not know.)

TURKEY

Heritage as a Bridge: Brown University is looking to partner with Koc University and other Turkish partners to facilitate connections between professionals working in the tourism/heritage sites industry. The objective of this dialogue is not only to empower local communities to safeguard heritage sites; the project also aims to use Heritage sites as a platform for teaching STEM education to Turkish students.

UNITED STATES

Interfaith Leaders in Atlanta: The Interfaith Youth Core and The Coca-Cola Company are partnering to train and network a core group of student leaders in Atlanta and the southeast U.S. region over the next year. The partnership will train and equip more than 100 interfaith leaders to bring together thousands of peers from diverse faiths in community service projects. The initiative leverages the momentum of the President’s Interfaith and Community Service Campus Challenge, a project that invites institutions of higher education to commit to a year of interfaith cooperation and community service programming on campus, to spark a movement of interfaith leaders increasing mutual understanding.
PNB Regional & Global Initiatives

PNB Steering Committee organizations often operate in-house programs on a regional or global scale. In the past year, PNB members have expanded pre-existing, and created new projects into PNB countries, within which they had not been previously active. Examples include:

Angel Capital Association of America (NAPEO Business Angels Network): Work with the Angel Capital Association of America to develop a business model for a U.S. – Maghreb regional business angels network to connect Maghreb diaspora investors, angels and entrepreneurs in the United States with potential business angels in the Maghreb. The Angel Capital Association of America would provide training and technical assistance in setting up the network. This effort will be initiated through the PNB-NAPEO entrepreneurship delegation to Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia, 27 October–3 November 2011.

Education for Employment Foundation: The U.S. Department of State has obligated $600,000 to Education for Employment (EFE) for NAPEO regional programming in the Maghreb that will allow for regional employability training, job matching and entrepreneurship programming, as well as a cross-border “train-the-trainers” program to support young jobseekers and entrepreneurs in the Maghreb. In addition, The U.S. Department of State’s Middle East Partnership Initiative (MEPI) has granted Education for Employment (EFE) $1.45 million dollars to launch a locally run non-profit organization, EFE-Tunisia, which will impact 800 young jobseekers and entrepreneurs over 2 years.

Global Network of Interfaith Leaders (Interfaith Youth Core): The Interfaith Youth Core commits to create a global network of interfaith leaders in the U.S. and Muslim countries over the next four years, training and equipping over 1,000 interfaith leaders this year alone who will bring together tens of thousands of their religiously diverse peers, in an effort to bridge the faith divide and provide thousands of volunteer hours in their communities.

Intel Teach: The Intel Teach Program has trained over 10 million teachers in more than 70 countries, and over 550 thousand teachers in PNB focus countries (Egypt, Palestine and Turkey). Intel is willing to expand this program further with the support of PNB to improve teaching and learning through the effective use of technology.

Intel Learn: Intel Learn Program is an after-school, community-based program designed to teach technological literacy, problem solving and collaboration skills. The program runs in Egypt, Palestine and Turkey and has already reached more than 200,000 pupils. Intel is willing to expand this program further with the support of PNB.

MENA Region Investment (Cisco): Cisco has committed to invest $20 million dollars in the MENA region. Cisco has just announced two $10 million venture capital investments, one in Jordan and one in Egypt, that aim to create a sustainable model of job-creation and economic development in these two countries, with a particular focus on high-potential small businesses.

PNB-NAPEO Online Network: The U.S. Department of State has soul sourced $200,000 for the Atlantic Council’s Young Atlanticist Program in partnership with Tobiko to develop a closed online platform for the PNB-NAPEO network that will provide updates on PNB-NAPEO projects and events as well as avenues for investment, training, resources and mentorship for entrepreneurs in the Maghreb.

Replenish Africa Initiative: Coca-Cola will dedicate $6 million of its Replenish Africa Initiative (RAIN) to water and sanitation projects designed to improve the lives of 250,000 women and girls across Africa, including Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco. Coca-Cola has committed a total of $30 million to RAIN, which will provide access to safe drinking water and sanitation for at least 2 million people throughout Africa by 2015.

Connecting Schools – Palestine and Indonesia: In Palestine, Cisco is supporting a program to connect 100 youth clubs and schools to the Internet while building capacity of local companies to implement and support. In Indonesia, a proposal has been presented by Cisco to the Ministry of National Education to implement Connected Learning Solutions in 20 schools. Pending commitment from USAID.
Cisco Networking Academy: Cisco Networking Academy is a global education program that teaches students how to design, build, troubleshoot, and secure computer networks for increased access to career and economic opportunities in communities around the world. Networking Academy provides online courses, interactive tools, and hands-on learning activities to help individuals prepare for ICT and networking careers in virtually every type of industry. Networking Academy aims to provide a consistently enriching learning experience by partnering with public and private institutions such as schools, universities, businesses, nonprofits, and government organizations to develop and deliver innovative ICT courses, improve the effectiveness and accessibility of the program, increase access to education and career opportunities, and help ensure that students and instructors have the resources they need to accomplish their goals.

Cisco Networking Academy began in 1997 with 64 schools and has grown to become one of the “world’s largest classrooms” with 10,000 academies in 165 countries, and nearly 4 million students having participated in the program to date. The program is present in all countries where PNB has established a local chapter:

PNB EVENTS

In the first two quarters of 2011, the PNB Secretariat has hosted over 40 events, ranging from small round-table discussions to large conventions, in an effort to leverage the work of PNB and its partners.

PNB Major Events

2nd Annual PNB Steering Committee Meeting:
September 19, 2011

PNB Summit

On May 31–June 1, 2010, the PNB Secretariat hosted the first PNB Summit in Washington, DC – a two-day conference of PNB Steering Committee delegates, PLC leadership, USG representatives and other PNB stake-holders, whereby through plenary discussions and break-out sessions, participants discussed the underlying objectives of the partnership and how to leverage collective resources in order to scale up their own positive and impactful work in the region.

PNB Steering Committee and Local Leadership Dinner with U.S. Secretary of State

On May 31, 2011, the Partners for a New Beginning Steering Committee and the leadership of the local PNB Chapters took part in a private dinner with Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton to discuss the important projects underway in each country, and the high-priority of this Secretary to support this kind of engagement.

PNB Reception in Honor of Secretary’s Global Diaspora Forum

On May 19, 2011, the PNB and PNB-NAPEO Secretariat hosted a breakfast reception in honor of the Secretary of State’s Global Diaspora Forum at the law offices of DLA Piper, during which forum participants, and specifically members of the diaspora from the Middle East, North Africa, and South East Asia, were invited to participate in a discussion with the Assistant Secretary of Economic, Energy and Business Affairs, Jose Fernandez, and Toni Verstandig on engagement of the diasporas in public-private partnerships with their local/traditional communities.
Albright Stonebridge Group Principal Alan Fleischmann moderates roundtable discussion on women’s entrepreneurship at the Partners for a New Beginning summit in May. Panelists include (left to right) Nell Derick Debevois, Director at Tomorrow’s Youth Organization; Mary MacPherson, Director of MENA Businesswomen’s Network at Vital Voices; Fahad Qadir, Region Public Affairs & Communications Manager - Pakistan & Afghanistan, The Coca-Cola Company, member of the Pakistan PNB Local Chapter; and Tri Mumpuni, Co-Founder, People Centered Economic & Business Institute (IBEKA) and Vice-Chair of PNB Local Board in Indonesia.

“Thank God, this was neither a summit of Americans nor a government summit [...] It was a group of about 100 people from Morocco, Palestine, Turkey, the U.A.E., U.S., Indonesia, Egypt, Tunisia, Algeria and Jordan, among other countries. This is a group that is best equipped to ease, over a long-term basis, the pressures that have led to the crisis the world faces today.

—Bob Walsh, Founder of One World 2011, published in The Huffington Post 6/14/11 enhance science and technology solutions that will positively impact up to 500,000 people across PNB targeted countries over the next five years.”

Following the CGI ceremony, the PNB Steering Committee gathered for their 1st annual meeting at the University Club, where the group approved the partnership’s strategic framework. (A copy of PNB’s 2010 CGI Commitment can be found in the Appendix)

Following the Steering Committee meeting, PNB hosted around 100 business and civil society leaders along with members of the U.S. Department of State to discuss involvement in PNB on a membership level.

PNB-NAPEO Foreign Ministers Dinner

On April 15, 2011, The Aspen Institute hosted a dinner with the Ministers of Finance from each of the Maghreb countries. Speakers included Under Secretary Robert Hormats and invitees included potential PNB-NAPEO Advisory Board members.

PNB Public Launch and 1st Steering Committee Meeting

At the Clinton Global Initiative’s Annual Meeting on September 22, 2010, the PNB Steering Committee formally announced the partnership’s commitment to:

“broaden and deepen engagement between the United States and international Muslim communities by building public-private partnerships that advance economic opportunity, science and technology, education, and exchange. These partnerships will increase access to financing, boost business capacity and development services, improve educational opportunities for students and teachers, foster physical and virtual exchange programs, and

Signing of the MOU and Reception for the President’s Summit on Global Entrepreneurship

On April 27, 2011, after Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton, Walter Isaacson, Former Secretary Madeleine K. Albright, and Barclay Resler (representing Muhtar Kent of Coca-Cola) officiate the Partners for a New Beginning Memorandum of Understanding, the PNB Secretariat co-hosted a reception with Goldmann Sachs’ 10,000 Women Initiative and the Aspen Network for Development Entrepreneurs, in honor of the delegates of the Presidential Summit on Entrepreneurship with presentations by Walter Isaacson, Dina Powell, and Ambassador Melanne Verveer.

APPENDIX II: PARTNERS FOR A NEW BEGINNING STATEMENT OF COMMITMENT

Clinton Global Initiative, September 22, 2010

PARTNERS FOR A NEW BEGINNING STATEMENT OF COMMITMENT:

“Nearly one year ago at Cairo University, President Obama called for a new beginning between the United States and Muslims around the world — a new beginning based on mutual interests and mutual respect, shared values, and shared responsibility. And since then, we have worked to put that vision into practice through our policies and our partnerships — not only with governments, but with the private sector, civil society, citizens worldwide.”

Hillary Rodham Clinton, Secretary of State, Announcement of Partners for a New Beginning, Washington, DC, April 27, 2010

Partners for a New Beginning (PNB) commits to broaden and deepen engagement between the United States and international Muslim communities by building public-private partnerships that advance economic opportunity, science and technology, education, and exchange. These partnerships will increase access to financing, boost business capacity and development services, improve educational opportunities for students and teachers, foster physical and virtual exchange programs, and enhance science and technology solutions that will positively impact up to 500,000 people across PNB targeted countries over the next five years.

ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY:

PNB commits to raise employment, increase access to financing, and build business capacity and development services in an effort to improve economic opportunities, develop markets, promote entrepreneurship, and enhance livelihoods in Muslim-majority countries around the world.

EXCHANGE:

In an effort to enhance human connectedness, foster mutual understanding, and build people-to-people ties between the United States and Muslim-majority communities, PNB commits to fostering physical and/or virtual exchange programs in the fields of education, business, interfaith and research.

EDUCATION:

In an effort to harness the human potential of Muslim communities, PNB commits to improving educational opportunities by building partnerships that will broaden access to education and enhance the quality of facilities and equipment within PNB’s target countries.

SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY:

In an effort to support sustainability-driven innovation and economic growth throughout the Muslim world, PNB commits to foster partnerships that will improve infrastructure, address natural resource challenges (e.g. water), upgrade skills and research capabilities, and fund cutting-edge innovation across these communities.
