THE ASPEN INSTITUTE

FINANCIAL SECURITY SUMMIT

JULY 10-13, 2012
Aspen, Colorado
The Aspen Institute Financial Security Summit is an invitation-only gathering of top business leaders, experts, advocates, and media. The goal is to advance the dialogue on the public and private solutions that create more savings and wealth in American households, strengthen middle-class opportunity, and improve the economic future of the country.

In an election year with a budgetary showdown looming, the Aspen Institute Initiative on Financial Security (Aspen IFS) has chosen to host its first Financial Security Summit in Aspen, Colorado to bring thoughtful leaders together to wrestle with the contours of a new financial security vision that may be within political reach. At a time when the American economy is at a crossroads, Summit participants will tackle the salient issues that affect the balance sheets of both American households and the country.

The Aspen Institute Initiative on Financial Security (Aspen IFS) is a leading policy program dedicated to helping bring about the policies and financial products that enable all Americans to save, invest, and own.

The Aspen Institute mission is twofold: to foster values-based leadership, encouraging individuals to reflect on the ideals and ideas that define a good society, and to provide a neutral and balanced venue for discussing and acting on critical issues. The Aspen Institute does this primarily in four ways: seminars, young-leader fellowships around the globe, policy programs, and public conferences and events. The Institute is based in Washington, DC; Aspen, CO; and on the Wye River on Maryland’s Eastern Shore. It also has an international network of partners.
July 10, 2012

Dear Financial Security Summit Participant,

Welcome to Aspen! I am delighted that you are joining us at our first Aspen Institute FINANCIAL SECURITY SUMMIT. We have a dynamic schedule ahead of us, so prepare for an exhilarating dialogue in one of the country’s most inspiring settings.

I founded Aspen’s Initiative on Financial Security (Aspen IFS) nine years ago having seen from my work at the Ford Foundation the success of innovative non-profit programs that helped thousands of lower-income Americans reach their goals of homeownership, business ownership, educational attainment, and owning a financial nest egg. The goal of Aspen IFS has been to improve the way the savings system works for millions of Americans by designing and promoting smart policies and smart products that help Americans gain or retain a firm foothold in the middle-class.

Throughout its history, Aspen IFS has balanced three roles – first as an expert, researcher, and architect of smart solutions for improving financial security; second as an advocate and careful defender of those solutions; and third as a high-level convener able to shed new light on the issues and solutions to important audiences who influence U.S. policy. Aspen IFS devoted much of the early years of our work to craft our savings policy recommendations, Savings for Life, and has most recently focused on advancing the tax and regulatory changes needed to bring more Americans into the savings system and to make savings more robust.

We are fortunate to do our work at the Aspen Institute with its 60 year tradition of cross-sector dialogue with prominent leaders and innovators on the world’s thorniest challenges. Thus we find ourselves here in Colorado with you today using the Institute’s precious tradition of dialogue in the beautiful Aspen home base for which we are named. I hope you will dive into our Summit discussions, enjoy a few other Aspen conversations, and have time to recharge and find fresh motivation for the work and passions that make all our lives meaningful.

With warm regards,

Lisa Mensah

A philanthropic entrepreneur, thought leader and businessman, John Hope Bryant is one of the leading authorities on poverty eradication today. As Founder, Chairman, and CEO of financial dignity nonprofit Operation HOPE, Bryant has advised the last three sitting U.S. Presidents on economic justice issues, recognized by the last five U.S. Presidents. He currently chairs the Subcommittee on the Underserved and Community Empowerment for the President’s Advisory Council on Financial Capability. Bryant is a member of the founding class of the Young Global Leaders and was a founding member of the Clinton Global Initiative. A charismatic leader, renown public speaker and writer, Bryant is a regular contributor to the Huffington Post. With the publishing of Love Leadership: The New Way to Lead in a Fear-based World, Bryant became one of the top 25-bestselling-business authors in the country and the only African-American bestselling business author in America. He has received over 500 awards and citations for his advocacy work, including Oprah Winfrey’s Use Your Life Award. In business, Bryant is CEO of Bryant Group Company, and serves on the corporate board for Ares Commercial Real Estate Corporation; a publicly traded company and a division of $54 billion private equity firm Ares Capital Management.

William Bynum, CEO
Hope Enterprise Corporation

William J. (Bill) Bynum is the founding CEO of HOPE (Hope Enterprise Corporation/Hope Community Credit Union), a community development financial institution, intermediary and policy center that addresses development needs confronting low-wealth people and communities in Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee. Since it was established in 1994, HOPE has become a primary source of financing and related assistance for entrepreneurs, homebuyers and community development projects in the Delta, areas affected by Hurricane Katrina and other distressed Mid South communities. A Henry Crown Fellow of the Aspen Institute, Bynum is recipient of the University of North Carolina Distinguished Alumnus Award, Ernst & Young/Kauffman Foundation National Entrepreneur of the Year Award, National Rural Assembly Rural Hero Award, and National Federation of Community Development Credit Unions Helping Hands Award. His board/trustee service includes Millsaps College, Jackson State University Development Foundation, University of Mississippi MIND Center, Foundation for the Mid South, Winthrop Rockefeller Foundation, Mississippi Children’s Museum, and the William Winter Institute for Racial Reconciliation. Bill has served as an advisor to Presidents Clinton, Bush and Obama on economic and community development matters; including ten years as chairman of Treasury’s Community Development Advisory Board. Prior to joining HOPE, Bill helped establish Self-Help, a pioneer in the development finance industry, and structured nationally acclaimed initiatives at the North Carolina Rural Economic Development Center.

JOHN CAREY, MANAGING DIRECTOR OF GOVERNANCE, REGULATORY, & EXTERNAL AFFAIRS
CITIGROUP, GLOBAL CONSUMER BANKING

John P. Carey is the Managing Director of Governance, Regulatory and External Affairs for Citigroup’s Global Consumer Banking businesses. In this role, he is responsible for ensuring effective controls and oversight of external and operating risks globally, which includes the activities of legal, compliance, community relations, public affairs and communications, government relations and regulatory relationship management on behalf of Citi’s Global Consumer Banking. Most recently, John served as the Chief Administrative Officer of Citi North America Consumer Banking. Previously, he served as Chair of the Board of Directors for Citibank (South Dakota), N.A., Citi’s credit card bank, as well as working in the Citi Cards organization as its CAO. Carey serves as a board member of Clarifi, as well as the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank’s Payment Card Center industry advisory group. In 2009, the Federal Reserve appointed John to its Consumer Advisory Council, advising the Board on the exercise of its responsibilities under the Consumer Credit Protection Act and on other consumer financial services matters.

Prior to joining Citi in 2006, Carey worked at MBNA America and Bank of America, where he held senior positions, including managing segments of the credit card business and covering legal and regulatory matters. Before joining MBNA, Carey served as the General Counsel to the Federal Emergency Management Agency. He also served in the Clinton White House as Chief Counsel to the Office of Presidential Personnel, managing the legal team that vetted candidates for presidential nominations to the U.S. Senate. Prior to joining the Clinton Administration, Carey practiced law for the law firm of Paul, Hastings, Janofsky & Walker in Washington, DC. He is a graduate of Georgetown College and Georgetown University Law Center in Washington, DC.

DAVID CERTNER, LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL & POLICY DIRECTOR, GOVERNMENT RELATIONS & ADVOCACY
AARP

David Certner is the Legislative Counsel and Director of Legislative Policy for Government Relations and Advocacy at AARP. He has been with AARP since 1982, and serves as counsel for the Association’s legislative, regulatory, and policy efforts at the federal and state level, as well as for litigation opportunities before the courts. Prior to assuming his current role in 2007, Certner had served as Director of AARP’s 25 person Federal Affairs shop, where he headed up all federal legislative and regulatory activity. In both roles, Certner has testified numerous times before both Congress and regulatory bodies, and as a designated spokesperson for AARP, has made frequent appearances on TV and on radio, as well as in print publications.

Certner also served as chairman of the 1994 ERISA Advisory Council of the Department of Labor, and was appointed as a delegate to the 1998, 2002, and 2006 National Summits on Retirement Savings. He is currently a member of BNA’s Pension and Benefits reporter advisory board. Certner, an attorney, received his law degree from the National Law Center at George Washington University.
José Cisneros, Treasurer
City and County of San Francisco

José Cisneros is the elected Treasurer of the City and County of San Francisco. As Treasurer, José serves as the City’s banker and chief investment officer, and manages tax and revenue collection for San Francisco. Treasurer Cisneros believes that his role of safeguarding the city’s money should extend to all San Franciscans and, as such, has embarked upon an ambitious financial empowerment agenda since taking office. The most known of these programs is an innovative public-private partnership to bank the unbanked called Bank on San Francisco, launched in 2006. Today Bank On programs are being replicated by nearly 100 cities and states nationwide, spurring the creation of Bank On USA by the US Department of the Treasury.

Treasurer Cisneros has since launched the San Francisco Office of Financial Empowerment (OFE). Its newest initiatives include Kindergarten to College, the first universal matched children’s savings account program in a public school system in the country and CurrenC SF, an employer-focused initiative designed to make electronic pay universal for all workers in San Francisco.

To further this work on a national level, San Francisco joined with New York City to create the Cities for Financial Empowerment coalition, a group of pioneering municipal governments from across the country working to advance innovative financial empowerment initiatives.

Krissy Clark, Senior Reporter, Marketplace
American Public Media

Krissy Clark is a senior reporter for Marketplace’s wealth and poverty desk, where she covers issues around economic mobility, money, class, and the nation’s growing income inequality. Clark is an award-winning public radio journalist and documentary-maker. Prior to joining Marketplace, she was the Los Angeles Bureau Chief for KQED public radio’s California Report, where she reported on Southern California’s economy, changing demographics, crime, justice and education systems. Clark’s work has been featured regularly on NPR’s Morning Edition and All Things Considered, the BBC and Freakonomics Radio. She spent her early career in a small town in Colorado, covering the rural American West for High Country News. Clark was part of a team of reporters from KQED and California Watch to receive a rare IRE (Investigative Reporters and Editors) Medal for a 2011 investigation into the seismic safety of California’s elementary schools. The series also won a Scripps-Howard Award. Clark’s radio documentary Foreclosure City, about Las Vegas and its role as the epicenter of the nation’s foreclosure crisis, was a finalist for the Livingston Award in 2009. In 2009 Clark earned a Knight Journalism Fellowship to spend a year at Stanford University researching location-aware technologies as tools for story-telling. She is the founder of Storieseverywhere.org, whose audio installations have been exhibited by The New Museum’s Festival of Ideas in NYC in collaboration with StoryCorps and at San Francisco’s Gray Area Foundation for the Arts. Clark graduated cum laude from Yale University, earning a B.A. with honors in The Humanities. She grew up in the San Francisco Bay Area thanks to her great-great grandfather, who immigrated there on a mule.

Robert Doyle, Vice President, External Affairs
Prudential Financial

Bob joined Prudential Financial’s External Affairs Division in March, 2011, to serve as a legislative and regulatory strategist on retirement issues. Prior to joining Prudential, Bob served, for over 20 years, as the Director of Regulations and Interpretations for the Employee Benefits Security Administration, the Agency responsible for carrying out the Department of Labor’s responsibilities under title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA). In addition to managing the Department’s regulatory and interpretive programs under ERISA, Bob played a major role in the formulation, coordination and implementation of national retirement policy in the Department and with other Federal agencies, including the Department of the Treasury, Internal Revenue Service, Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation, Securities and Exchange Commission, among others.

He holds a Masters in Public Policy from the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University and a BA in Philosophy from Boston College.

LEONARD GLYNN, MANAGING DIRECTOR, POLICY
PUTNAM INVESTMENTS

Leonard M. “Lenny” Glynn has been Director of Public Policy at Putnam Investments since joining the company in October 2008. Putnam Investments has championed the wisdom of the balanced approach since 1937. Today, Putnam offers investors a world of equity, fixed-income, multi-asset, and absolute return portfolios so investors can pursue a range of financial goals. Putnam’s seasoned portfolio managers seek superior results over time, backed by original, fundamental research on a global scale. Reporting to Putnam’s CEO, Glynn’s responsibilities range from crafting executive communications and white papers to outreach to public officials, industry groups and think tanks. He is also often engaged with Putnam’s public relations, marketing and research initiatives. Prior to joining Putnam, Glynn was a Senior Vice President in Fidelity Investments communications team for eight years and served as Vice President and Director of Industry Affairs at State Street Corp from 1995 to 2000. Before entering the investment industry in 1995, Glynn had extensive journalistic experience as a writer and editor at Time Magazine, BusinessWeek, Newsweek, Institutional Investor and Global Finance Magazines. He also worked as a campaign speechwriter for two presidential candidates -- Governor Michael S. Dukakis in 1988 and Governor William Clinton of Arkansas in 1992. From 1993 to 1995 he was Associate Director of Public Affairs at the U.S. department of Transportation. Glynn graduated from Columbia College, where he majored in political science.

JOSEPH GOTBAUM, DIRECTOR
U.S. PENSION BENEFIT GUARANTY CORPORATION

Josh Gotbaum is the Director of the U.S. Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation, a federal agency that insures private sector pensions covering more than 40 million people. PBGC currently pays benefits or is responsible for the pensions of 1.5 million. As of September 2010, the agency had assets of almost $80 billion and obligations of $102 billion. Director Gotbaum was appointed by the President in July 2010 and unanimously confirmed by the US Senate in September 2010. Josh has, for over three decades, helped manage, advise, and restructure public, private, and nonprofit institutions. From 2003-2005, he led and managed the successful reorganization of Hawaiian Airlines as its Chapter 11 trustee. When it emerged from Chapter 11, Hawaiian’s creditors were repaid in full, most of its employees received raises, and Hawaiian was recognized as one of the best airlines in America. In 2001-2002, he was the first CEO of The September 11th Fund, a charity with over $500 million in assets whose innovative grants helped more than 100,000 people and businesses affected by the attacks. For more than a decade, Josh was an investment banker with Lazard in New York and London. He advised businesses, unions and governments on a diverse range of mergers, acquisitions and restructurings, in transportation, steel, and other industries. Immediately prior to joining PBGC, he was a partner in Blue Wolf.

DOUGLAS HOLTZ-EAKIN, PRESIDENT

AMERICAN ACTION FORUM

Douglas Holtz-Eakin has a distinguished record as an academic, policy adviser, and strategist. Currently he is the President of the American Action Forum and most recently was a Commissioner on the Congressionally-chartered Financial Crisis Inquiry Commission. Since 2001, he has served in a variety of important policy positions. During 2001-2002, he was the Chief Economist of the President's Council of Economic Advisers (where he had also served during 1989-1990 as a Senior Staff Economist). At CEA he helped to formulate policies addressing the 2000-2001 recession and the aftermath of the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001. From 2003-2005 he was the 6th Director of the non-partisan Congressional Budget Office, which provides budgetary and policy analysis to the U.S. Congress. During his tenure, CBO assisted Congress as they addressed numerous policies -- notably the 2003 tax cuts (JGTRRA), the Medicare prescription drug bill (MMA), and Social Security reform. During 2007 and 2008 he was Director of Domestic and Economic Policy for the John McCain presidential campaign. Following the 2008 election Holtz-Eakin was the President of DHE Consulting, an economic and policy consulting firm providing insight and research to a broad cross-section of clients. Holtz-Eakin has held positions in several Washington-based think tanks. He was Senior Fellow at the Peter G. Peterson Institute for International Economics (2007-2008), and the Director of the Maurice R. Greenberg Center for Geoeconomic Studies and the Paul A. Volcker Chair in International Economics at the Council on Foreign Relations (2006). He has also been a visiting Fellow at the American Enterprise Institute, Heritage Foundation, and American Family Business Foundation. Holtz-Eakin built an international reputation as a scholar doing research in areas of applied economic policy, econometric methods, and entrepreneurship. He began his career at Columbia University in 1985 and moved to Syracuse University from 1990 to 2001. At Syracuse, he became Trustee Professor of Economics at the Maxwell School, Chairman of the Department of Economics and Associate Director of the Center for Policy Research. Holtz-Eakin serves on the Boards of the Tax Foundation, National Economists Club and Committee for a Responsible Federal Budget, and the Research Advisory Board of the Center for Economic Development.
J. Mark Iwry, Senior Advisor to the Secretary & Deputy Assistant Secretary for Retirement & Health Policy

U.S. Department of Treasury

Mark Iwry is Senior Advisor to the Secretary of the Treasury and is the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Retirement and Health Policy at the U.S. Treasury Department. Iwry was formerly a Nonresident Senior Fellow at the Brookings Institution, a Principal of the Retirement Security Project, and Research Professor at Georgetown University. While serving as the Benefits Tax Counsel at the U.S. Treasury Department (1995-2001), he was a principal architect of the Saver’s Credit to expand 401(k) and IRA coverage of middle- and lower-income workers and the “SIMPLE” IRA/401(k) plan, and he formulated and directed Treasury's strategy to increase retirement saving by defining, approving and promoting 401(k) automatic enrollment. Iwry also has been centrally involved in developing or orchestrating many other significant improvements of the nation’s pension and benefits systems, including expansion of automatic 401(k) features, promoting lifetime retirement income, IRS direct deposit of split income tax refunds into IRAs and US saving bonds, the sweeping Presidential “Universal Savings Accounts” proposal (1999-2000), payroll deduction IRAs, automatic rollover to curtail pension leakage, and the new retirement plan tax credit for small business. Iwry also has co-authored President Obama’s legislative proposal to expand coverage through automatic IRAs. Iwry has often testified before Congress and has advised many Senators, Members of Congress and their staffs on both sides of the aisle, as well as various Presidential campaigns. He has been recognized as one of the “30 top financial players” (Smart Money magazine), “Investment News 20” (20 individuals expected to have a major influence on the financial services industry), “100 Most Influential People in Finance” (Treasury and Risk magazine), “100 Most Influential People in the 401(k) Industry” (401(k) Wire), etc. Formerly a partner in the law firm of Covington & Burling, Of Counsel to the law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell, and chair of the D.C. Bar Employee Benefits Committee, Iwry’s books and articles include the co-edited volume (with William Gale and Peter Orszag), Aging Gracefully: Ideas to Improve Retirement Security in America. Iwry is an honors graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Law School, and received a Master of Public Policy degree from Harvard’s Kennedy School of Government.

David C. John, Senior Research Fellow

The Heritage Foundation

David C. John is a Senior Research Fellow at The Heritage Foundation, a prominent Washington think tank. John also serves as the Managing Director of the Retirement Security Project at the Brookings Institution and as Policy Advisor to Retirement Made Simpler. RSP focuses on improving retirement savings in the United States, especially among moderate and low income workers, while RMS is a coalition of FINRA, RSP and AARP that encourages employers to include automatic features in their 401(k)-type retirement savings plans. Since coming to Heritage, John has written and lectured extensively on the importance of reforming the nation’s retirement programs. He is the co-author along with J. Mark Iwry of the Automatic IRA, a small business retirement savings program for firms that do not sponsor any other form of retirement savings or pension plan. The Automatic IRA was endorsed by both the 2008 campaigns of John McCain and Barack Obama, and is part of the Obama budget proposal. It has also received favorable attention from publications as diverse as the New York Times, National Review, and many others.

He is also a co-author with Bill Gale, Mark Iwry and Lina Walker of a proposal to include trial annuities as the default withdrawal choice in 401(k)-type plans, and has spoken on this idea at a number of conferences and web seminars. In addition, John is the co-author of a study of national retirement savings plans in the United Kingdom, Chile, Australia and New Zealand.

John has testified before a number of House and Senate committees on topics as diverse as proposals to improve the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation’s measurement of the fiscal strength of defined benefit pension plans, how to reduce leakage of funds from 401(k)-type plans, how to structure and regulate Social Security personal retirement accounts, and steps that should be taken to improve the program for women and minorities, and to increase the information that the public can receive about Social Security programs. John is a co-editor of the 2009 book, Automatic: Changing the Way that America Saves. He has been published and quoted extensively in the press, and has also appeared on a number of major television channels and national and syndicated radio shows.

KILOLO KIJKAZI, PROGRAM OFFICER, FINANCIAL ASSETS & ECONOMIC SECURITY FORD FOUNDATION

Kilolo Kijakazi’s work focuses on building economic security for working families. Her grant making promotes public support for the creation of universal, progressive savings accounts from birth through retirement, and Social Security reform that improves benefits for low-wage workers. This approach incorporates the expertise of people of color into all aspects of the work, including research, policy and practice.

Before joining the Ford Foundation in 2003, Kilolo was a senior policy analyst for the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, where she specialized in Social Security. She wrote and presented research and policy papers, testified before Congress, and served as a panelist at the White House Conference on Social Security during the Clinton administration. Some of her papers were published by the National Academy of Social Insurance and the Gerontological Society. She previously worked as a program analyst for the U.S. Department of Agriculture’s Food and Nutrition Service, where she designed and monitored evaluations of the Food Stamp Program and demonstrations of noncustodial parent programs. She also worked at the National Urban League’s Washington operations office as a policy analyst and addressed issues such as welfare reform, employment and education.

Kilolo received a Ph.D. in public policy from George Washington University, and her dissertation was published as the book “African-American Economic Development and Small Business Ownership.” She holds an M.S.W. with a specialty in community development from Howard University, and a B.A. from Binghamton University.
Andrea Levere has led the Corporation for Enterprise Development (CFED) as its president since 2004. CFED is a private nonprofit organization with the mission of building assets and expanding economic opportunity for low-income people and disadvantaged communities through matched savings, entrepreneurship and affordable housing. Through Levere’s vision and leadership, CFED designs and operates major national initiatives that aim to expand matched savings for children and adults, bring self-employed entrepreneurs into the financial mainstream and turn manufactured housing into an appreciating asset. CFED operates a comprehensive public policy program to build and protect assets at the local, state and federal levels, and produces the nationally recognized Assets & Opportunity Scorecard. CFED has enjoyed significant growth under Levere’s guidance, expanding to a staff of 50 with offices in Washington, DC, Durham, NC, and San Francisco, CA. Levere has added resources and focus to CFED’s policy and communications efforts, leading to a number of policy victories in state legislatures and growing attention to the importance of asset building in the national media.

Prior to joining CFED in 1992, Levere was a director with the National Development Council. At NDC, she was a lead trainer for the Economic Development Finance Certification Program and designed and conducted “Taking Care of Business,” a financial management program for entrepreneurs while also working with cities and states to structure financing for small businesses, affordable housing and urban development projects. Levere served as chair of the board of the Ms. Foundation for Women from 2002-2005, after being on its board since 1998. Currently, she serves as the Chair of ROC USA (Resident Owned Communities USA), a national social venture that converts manufactured home parks into resident owned cooperatives. In 2009 she was appointed to the Bank of America’s National Consumer Advisory Council. Levere also serves as a founding member of the Morgan Stanley community Development Advisory Committee. She holds a bachelor’s degree from Brown University and an MBA from Yale University. In 2001, she received the Alumni Recognition Award from the Yale School of Management and in 2008 was named to the inaugural class of its Donaldson Fellows Program, which recognizes alumni who help educate business and society leaders.

CHRISTINE MARCKS, PRESIDENT
PRUDENTIAL RETIREMENT

Christine C. Marcks is the president of Prudential Retirement, an industry leading provider of full-service retirement plans; stable value, retirement income and capital market solutions; and pension risk-transfer strategies. Throughout her career, Marcks has played a key role in the evolution of the financial services industry, first as an International Economist with the U.S. Treasury Department in Washington, D.C. and later as a corporate executive in increasingly responsible positions within the retirement-services industry. Her expertise spans the institutional and individual retirement businesses, and her knowledge and experience have led to the successful launch of innovative product-and-service solutions, most notably Prudential IncomeFlex, a market-leading guaranteed retirement-income offering for defined contribution plans.

As president of Prudential Retirement, Marcks also brings passion to the business, committing her organization to creating retirement security for American workers. To that end, she has implemented an aggressive strategy to “lead the transformation of U.S. retirement,” recognizing that in these challenging economic times, new products, services and tools are needed to improve the retirement readiness of individuals in employer-sponsored plans.

Beyond her business accomplishments, Marcks has also become an involved and influential advocate for legislation that will ultimately help Americans achieve their retirement goals. She serves on the Board of Directors for the Connecticut Business & Industry Association and on the Board of the Employee Benefit Research Institute in Washington, DC. Additionally, Marcks is committed to community involvement and improvement, promoting and advancing educational programs and the arts by serving on the Boards of the YMCA of the USA, the Greater Hartford YMCA, the Hartford Youth Scholars Foundation, and The Bushnell Center for the Performing Arts. Marcks also serves on the Board of Trustees of Assumption College, where she graduated with a B.A. degree in foreign affairs. She earned her M.A. in economics from Georgetown University.

Marc Morial, President & CEO
National Urban League

Entrepreneur. Lawyer. Professor. Legislator. Mayor. President, U.S. Conference of Mayors. CEO of the National Urban League, the nation's largest civil rights organization. In a distinguished professional career that has spanned 25 years, Marc Morial has performed all of these roles with excellence, and is one of the most accomplished servant-leaders in the nation.

As an Entrepreneur, Morial started several successful small businesses -- an apparel wholesale company, a special events company, and a janitorial company. As a Lawyer, Morial won the Louisiana State Bar Association's Pro Bono Publico Award for his legal service to the poor and disadvantaged. He was also one of the youngest lawyers, at age 26, to argue and win a major case before the Louisiana Supreme Court. As a Professor, Morial served on the adjunct faculty of Xavier University in Louisiana, where he taught Constitutional Law, and Business Law. As a Louisiana State Senator, Morial was named Legislative Rookie of the Year, Education Senator of the Year, and Environmental Senator of the Year, while authoring laws on a wide range of important subjects. As Mayor of New Orleans, Morial was a popular chief executive with a broad multi-racial coalition who led New Orleans’ 1990's renaissance, left office with a 70% approval rating, and was elected by his peers as President of the bi-partisan U.S. Conference of Mayors (USCM).

As President of the National Urban League since 2003 he has been the primary catalyst for an era of change -- a transformation for the nearly 100 year old civil rights organization. His leadership has expanded the League's work around an Empowerment agenda, which is redefining civil rights in the 21st century with a renewed emphasis on closing the economic gaps between Whites and Blacks as well as rich and poor Americans. His creativity has led to initiatives such as the Urban Youth Empowerment Program to assist young adults in securing sustainable jobs, and Entrepreneurship Centers in 5 cities to help the growth of small businesses. Also, Morial created the National Urban League Empowerment Fund, which has pumped almost $200 million into urban impact businesses including minority business through both debt and equity investments.

A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania with a degree in Economics and African American Studies, he also holds a law degree from the Georgetown University Law Center in Washington, D.C., as well as honorary degrees from Xavier University, Wilberforce University, and the University of South Carolina Upstate. He serves as an Executive Committee member of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, the Black Leadership Forum, and Leadership 18, and is a Board Member of the Muhammad Ali Center, and the New Jersey Performing Arts Center. He has been recognized as one of the 100 most influential Black Americans by Ebony Magazine, as well as one of the Top 50 Nonprofit Executives by the Nonprofit Times.

In retirement, he authored and published “Hearts of Courage,” a book about the miraculous 29-day survival story of his father Joseph Tippets, a former CAA/FAA employee, who was on a plane that went down in Alaska in January 1943. He has enjoyed opportunities to do presentations of his Dad’s story to numerous groups and conferences.

Tippets, with the support of a very talented North Island Credit Union leadership team has been a part of a significant North Island recovery from lows (measured as a net worth ratio below 3%) to today’s net worth ratio near 7%. “On what is in our control we have done quite well”, but with caution Tippets points out that “many factors in the economy are beyond the Credit Union’s control and those remain very troubling and challenging. North Island is however now viable and has options that we didn’t have at all three years ago.” He holds a B.A. and Master’s Degree in Business, with an emphasis in Finance, from UCLA.

DAVID WALKER, FOUNDER & CEO
COMEBACK AMERICA INITIATIVE

Dave is the Founder and CEO of the Comeback America Initiative (CAI). In this capacity he leads CAI’s efforts to promote fiscal responsibility and sustainability by engaging the public and assisting key policymakers on a non-partisan basis to help achieve solutions to America’s federal, state and local fiscal imbalances.

Prior to assuming his current position, he served as the first President and CEO of the Peter G. Peterson Foundation. Previously, Dave served as the seventh Comptroller General of the United States and head of the U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) for almost ten years (1998-2008). This was one of Dave’s three presidential appointments each by different Presidents during his 15 years of total federal service. Dave also has over 20 years of private sector experience, including approximately 10 years as a Partner and Global Managing Director of Human Capital Services for Arthur Andersen LLP.

In addition to his leadership responsibilities at CAI, Dave currently serves on various non-profit boards and advisory groups. He is also a member of the Accounting Hall of Fame, the Trilateral Commission, and the Sons of the American Revolution.

Dave has won numerous leadership awards both domestically and internationally. He also has authored three books, with the latest one entitled Comeback America: Turning the Country Around and Restoring Fiscal Responsibility (2010), which is National Bestseller. He is a frequent writer and media commentator, and is a subject of the critically acclaimed documentary I.O.U.S.A.
